The Honorable David J. Shulkin
Secretary, U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs
Sent via email

Dear Secretary Shulkin:

I write today on behalf of the National Law School Veterans Clinic Consortium (www.nlsvcc.org), a non-profit organization created by two dozen law school clinics and legal services organizations from across the country, all dedicated to providing pro bono legal services to veterans and service members. We have worked informally as a coalition for years with prior VA leadership, in particular the Office of General Counsel under Will Gunn and then Leigh Bradley. Jim Byrne has expressed tremendous support for our efforts, and we are eager to continue to work collaboratively with the VA to maximize our impact on behalf of those who served.

NLSVCC is holding a conference focused on representing veterans in Washington, D.C. on February 28 and March 1. In addition to our member attorneys and other experts, two judges from the Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims, Judges Davis and Allen, have already agreed to speak. We will also be reaching out to members of Congress from relevant committees who may have an interest in speaking.

It would be an incredible honor, and the highlight of the conference, if you were available to provide remarks at some point during the day and a half agenda. You would be welcome to speak on any topic of interest. We would certainly enjoy the opportunity to hear your vision for the VA and how pro bono attorneys and law school clinics can work with the agency to increase the services being provided to veterans.

We anticipate the conference will draw approximately 150 people, including pro bono attorneys and law school clinicians, committee staffers, VSO members, agency staffers, members from our sponsoring organizations, law students, and others interested in serving veterans. My own organization, the Puller Veterans Benefits Clinic at William & Mary Law School, held two conferences like this previously, and that was the attendance at those conferences. We anticipate an even more robust conference now that more than twenty law schools are joining together to create the agenda.

We hope you will be able to join us for part of the conference, and that you will share your expertise with our members and guests. Thank you in advance for your consideration, and for your tireless efforts on behalf of our nation's veterans.

Respectfully,

(b)(6)

(b)(6), Esq.

President, NLSVCC

Darin,

A couple things. My guys with Veterans Evaluation Services would like to meet with you either October 23 or 24. I know you were part of the Dearborn meeting. They would like to update you on the current situation. Do you have time on either of those two days?

Second, I wanted to show you something that a friend sent me a couple days ago....

My son is in a Masters of Taxation program at Baylor, and this week they are in DC visiting various governmental agencies (GAO, IRS, SEC, PCAOB, US Tax Court, Quantico FBI Academy, etc.). This morning, they visited the Government Accountability Office.

Check out the attached picture....guess which government agency is at the top of the list for reported improper payment error rates as a percent of outlays?

The speaker at the GAO spent most of his time talking about how poorly the VA is run.....

Darin,
A couple things. My guys with Veterans Evaluation Services would like to meet with you either October 23 or 24. I know you were part of the Dearborn meeting. They would like to update you on the current situation. Do you have time on either of those two days?

Second, I wanted to show you something that a friend sent me a couple days ago....

My son is in a Masters of Taxation program at Baylor, and this week they are in DC visiting various governmental agencies (GAO, IRS, SEC, PCAOB, US Tax Court, Quantico FBI Academy, etc.). This morning, they visited the Government Accountability Office.

Check out the attached picture....guess which government agency is at the top of the list for reported improper payment error rates as a percent of outlays?

The speaker at the GAO spent most of his time talking about how poorly the VA is run.....

Darin,

A couple things...

(b)(6) and (b)(6) from VES will be in town on Nov 1.

Would you be available to meet with them?

Secondly,

We did get language from (b)(6) yesterday that comes close to what (b)(6) is looking for, but now it sounds like the bill is slowing down.
